

FIRST AID FOR HEALTHCARE COMPANIES

| MAXXVAULT HEALTHCARE

From major medical centers to specialized clinics, healthcare concerns around the world rely on MaxxVault to manage their critical information

In this age of regulation, electronic management of data is increasingly important. Whether you're trying to improve access to patient records or adhering to strict FDA requirements, MaxxVault can help.

MaxxVault provides solutions to small, medium and large companies in the healthcare services market. MaxxVault can be tailored for specific needs with a narrow feature set, expanded as needed to a full enterprise solution, or as a SaaS solution housed in our secure Shared Data Center. The goal is always the same: Reduce overhead costs by automating tasks and improving productivity.

Resolve industry needs such as:

- Confidentiality: Security so only authorized individuals see patient health information
- Auditing: Provide a record of patient health information disclosures.

- Access: System users only have access to information they are authorized to see.
- Disaster Recovery: Patient health information documents are backed up electronically for off-site disaster recovery.
- Workflow Distribution: Streamline business practices with electronic distribution and safeguards to ensure documents reach the correct person and are processed within your defined time constraints.
- Scanning: eliminate the need for costly paper file storage, access files almost instantly, and reduce printing, copying and shopping costs.
- Real time reporting: Immediate processing statistics and management reports providing managers and supervisors with reports for making decisions thereby improving productivity and preventing errors.

Claims Processing

Processing claims quickly will lower costs and make your customers happier. MaxxVault enhances your business by putting all the relevant documentation associated with a claim at the fingertips of your processors, moving claims quickly through the system according to your business rules. Scanning documents to MaxxVault ensures that your staff does not have to spend any time searching for supporting documentation; the risk of lost or misplaced files is effectively eliminated. With immediate access to documents, determining the validity of a claim has never been faster, which allows processors to quickly process codes and treatment plans. Managers can also quickly uncover processing bottlenecks and immediately re-route claims to other processors at any location around the world. Faster review makes for happier customers as doctors are paid sooner and their patients receive access to secondary or specialist care more quickly.

From an administration point of view, storing documents electronically in MaxxVault increases document security and helps simplify regulatory compliance. With MaxxVault, only employees with security credentials can access documents. Access can be further controlled, including restricting the ability to print, e-mail or make changes to the document. In addition, each document and user's entire activity history is recorded for auditing purposes.

Simplify and improve your business by letting MaxxVault manage your documents. Processing claims has never been easier.
